

Forest Bathing Challenge Badge

What is forest bathing you may ask?

Well, you don't need a swimsuit or a large bathroom, all you need is a forest or some woods.

Forest bathing or 'shinrin-yoku' was first developed in Japan in the 1980s. The results showed time spent in mindful exploration in a forest can reduce stress, lower cortisol (stress hormone) levels and improve concentration and memory.

The key element for this badge within all sections of Girlguiding is to go for a walk in a forest or wood. While you are there, you should think openly and thoughtfully. Simply slow down and immerse yourself in the natural wonder of a forest or wood.

You can decide what other activities your unit need to do to gain this badge. We have included colour-coded programme links for each section. Some skills builders can be completed in full whilst completing this badge.

We initially created this badge to support our fundraising for Girlguiding via a Discover Adventure Trek. This was completed in October 2022. Remaining badges are being sold to support Brownies in our unit to attend Pack Holidays.

Forest Bathing

Part 1

The key element for this badge is to go for a walk in a forest or wood.

You should stop, lie down on the floor and look up at the trees above.

Be aware of your senses and how a forest or wood can make you feel.

- Sight: Take in the wonder of the trees that tower above you.
- Sounds: Shut your eyes to fully take in the sounds around you and be aware of your body starting to relax. Listen to the wind through the trees.
- Smell: Be aware of the smells of the forest/wood.
- Touch: Be aware of the textures of the hard and rough bark of the trees and the breeze on your face.

More information on forest bathing on the National Trust website:

<https://www.nationaltrust.org.uk/lists/a-beginners-guide-to-forest-bathing>

Part 2

During your walk:

- Collect natural objects which can be used for other activities in later weeks or to start a collection.
- Consider the wood or forest as part of your community and how you could take action to help it to thrive.
- Learn and understand how to keep yourself and others safe while in a wood or forest.

Part 3: Other Activities

Included here are ideas of other activities to complete alongside forest bathing. You could do as many or as few as you would like. After this are pages with colour coded programme links linking to forest bathing and these activities for Rainbows, Brownies and Guides. Rangers and Leaders should complete part 1 and 2 and part 4.

Mindfulness

Forest Bathing is a form of mindfulness. You could link this badge to other methods of mindfulness and relaxation.

Relaxing exercise

Try yoga, pilates, stretching or certain types of dancing

Art

- Paint a picture of a tree or trees in each of the 4 seasons
- Make a picture, collage or sculpture with items collected on your walk
- Try leaf rubbings

Saving trees

- Learn why trees are so important for the environment and how you can protect trees in your local area: <https://treecouncil.org.uk/>
- You could try making paper out of scrap paper that would otherwise be thrown away: <https://www.scholastic.com/parents/school-success/learning-toolkit-blog/how-to-make-your-own-recycled-paper.html>

Family tree

- Understand your own roots and draw a family tree. See if you can find out some interesting facts.

Grow leaves

- Try growing lettuce, cress or a herb such as basil.

Taste leaves

- Taste as many leaves as you can and make a list of all the leaves you've eaten e.g. mint, basil, lettuce, rocket, spinach etc. You might be surprised how many leaves you eat every day.
- You could also learn about what leaves you should not touch or eat as this could be dangerous.

Dear Sarah,

Thank you for your email.

I can confirm that the font used is Trebuchet. We have also asked the company to reduce the size of the trefoil as you have suggested and ensure we have seen this proof prior to production.

Best wishes,
Kathryn

Thank you for your enquiry,

I am sorry for the delay in coming back to your original request.

The badge does meet the branding guidelines with just a couple of minor changes.

- It is not clear to see with the bend but the name will need to be in Trebuchet font, if you could check with the supplier before production.
- The Trefoil looks a little big, could this maybe be reduced slightly (minimum 5mm) so it comes under the line of the bath?

If these amendments could be made we are happy to approve without seeing the updated design.

Regards

Sarah Goodstadt
